Buick oil pick-up screen

DIRECTIONS:

Gently pry the lip of the oil screen up all the way around.

Do not try to get the lip all the way up on the first time around, It usually takes about three times around to get the lip at a 90 degree angle so that the old screen can be removed.

You can use anything sharp like a pick or screw driver to get the lip raised.

A pair of pliers can be used to raise it after getting it started.

After the old screen is removed, clean the pick-up before installing screen.

Pliers may again be used to start the lip back over the screen.

A hammer is best to roll the lip back down by having the back side on the edge of a metal table.

As in removal do not try to get the lip back against the screen on trip around, it usually takes about three times around to get it mashed back against the screen.

You only have to have the lip snug against the screen, do not beat on the lip and break it.

Take your time, we have installed dozens of these with out tearing up a tube.
